

Call for Applications

Internship opportunity for young unionists in Germany and South Africa

Are you interested to be part of an exciting cooperation between Germany's industrial trade union IG Metall with headquarters in Frankfurt and the Trade Union Competence Centre (TUCC) of the Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung (FES) based in Johannesburg? Then you should apply for this internship.

What we offer:

An internship for 2 young unionists from the African continent for three months at the headquarters of IG Metall in Frankfurt (mid-April to mid-July) followed by a three months internship at the FES TUCC at Johannesburg (September to November).

Travel cost, accommodation and a daily allowance will be covered by the organisers.

Tasks involved:

- Supporting the work of the Transnational Network on Transformation in the Automotive Sector;
- Developing workshop concepts for the above-mentioned network;
- Developing concepts for information and public relations to make the results of the network accessible to a broader public;
- Documenting and evaluating the work of the network;
- Developing recommendations for follow-up processes;
- Conducting analysis and research on labour related topics;
- Supporting IG Metall and FES TUCC in their overall work and learning about the work of the two organisations.

Requirements:

- Experience with trade unions and labor issues;
- Experience in designing workshops;
- Research experience;
- Interest in digital and sustainable transformation, supply chains, decent work and industrial relations;
- Willingness to work with other people in an international context;
- Fluency in English (spoken and written)
- Aged 21-35.

A written application, incl. a letter of motivation and a CV, can be submitted via email to tucc@fes.de
